If a student athlete is supposed to receive the full benefits of NCAA membership as a student-athlete, and Stanford has a clear conflict of interest in using Proctor as a representative for the entire NCAA during the process of drafting a potentially illegal contract, Stanford has the responsibility to tell a student-athlete this. This is a lesson that every university in America must learn. Disclaimer All opinions expressed on this website are those solely of the individual contributors. Playing career Blackpool Born in Barrow-in-Furness, Nicholls began his career as an apprentice with Blackpool, turning professional in June 1958. Blackpool had previously played in the now defunct North Eastern League and, despite being a left-sided midfielder, Nicholls was expected to play on the wing. In October 1958, he was part of the team that beat Barnsley 2–0 in the first game of the 1958–59 Football League season. He made his debut in the away fixture against Burnley in November 1958, which ended in a 2–2 draw. On 22 January 1959, Nicholls scored in Blackpool's FA Cup 3rd round replay against Coventry City, hitting the post with a long-range effort. He went on to score his first Football League goal against Luton Town in February 1959. Two months later, he scored 1cb139a0ed
